

K-Love provides me an opportunity to listen to music without the issue of commercials. It is a positive uplifting station as opposed to the normal rock/rap that is on the air. No songs about sex, drugs, or other issues that I consider to place a negative influence on my children. It is a station (together with AIR 1) that I don't have to worryh about my kids listening to. To remove them from the air would be a greivous error on the part of the FCC. The station is funded by those who listen, want, and feel it provides a much needed service to the community. This radio station (unlike some unmentioned TV stations) actually has a standard they operate by, and they don't try to sneak things past the raters, or those that listen. I have never had them breech my confidence in what they present on the air. If KLOVE were removed from the local area, its air waves would fall to more of the same programming that I don't want, and those that listen to KLOVE don't want. There is plenty of other stations in the local to serve those that have yet to find KLOVE, which I'm sure they would switch to also, if they would change the station and truly listen. It is in the best interest of the community for KLOVE to remain on the air as they are, providing an alternative to the standard fair. You would truly be limiting options and the voice of those who support KLOVE if you were to remove them from our community, it would be as significant of an error in judgement as XYZ TV Network demonstrated during a certain football game.
